Legal research often forms the foundation of persuasive advocacy and commercial documents which secure the client's interests. During this presentation you will learn:

- Updating and working with legislation;
- Top ten Web Sites for Research;
- A variety of techniques for on-line research to locate case law which is on point;
- Updating and evaluating the case law which you locate;
- Locating and working with useful precedent materials in a wide variety of practice areas;
- Reference materials and texts which will make your job easier;
- Resources available at the Great Library and local Law Libraries
- Tips for converting research into useful materials – use of precedents and tips for drafting factums and other written argument or submissions.

Learn these and other practical research skills from our speakers, JEANETTE BOSSCHART, B.A., M.L.S. Reference Librarian at the Great Library, Osgoode Hall and TIM REILLY, B.A., LL.B., freelance Legal Researcher.
